Views of the Morris Arboretum
from a hillside, of a sculpture and of late spring color.

The Morris Family gave their personal home and gardens to the University of Pennsylvania for the public to visit and enjoy. The lovely grounds include thousands of rare woody plants set in a romantic, 92-acre, Victorian landscape garden of winding paths, streams, flowers and special garden areas.

Especially lovely are the spring cherry blossoms and bulbs followed by flowering dogwoods, azaleas, rhododendron and then roses. Many sculptures and water features are scattered throughout the arboretum.
